Vandals hit Livermore 'Reward'

LIVERMORE — Vandals have again hit Livermore Valley Unified School District and Supt. Leo Croce announced Wednesday evening that a $100 reward is being offered for their capture and conviction.

A person or persons unknown broke into the main section of Joe Michell School, 1001 Elaine Ave., Livermore, sometime during the long staff weekend, which ended Tuesday.

Croce estimated the damage at $520. A pellet gun or rocks were apparently used to break three 2 by 3 foot wire panes, two 4½ by 5½ foot main corridor plate glass windows and two corridor fluorescent light fixtures.

The Livermore schools' chief, who has formed a consortium to fight vandalism with Livermore City Manager Bill Parness and Livermore Area Recreation and Park District General Manager Bill Payne, said the three governmental agencies they represent are determined to stamp out the growing problem of vandalism.

The three governmental agencies have authorized rewards up to $500 for information leading to the arrest, prosecution and conviction of vandals who are plaguing the Valley.

This anti-vandalism partnership reaffirmed its determination to end the area-wide plague of malicious mischief, arson and other crimes that are destroying many thousands of dollars worth of taxpayers' property.

"With the ever rising costs of material and labor," Croce said yesterday, "it's a real tragedy to spend these dollars on repairs instead of directing these funds to improving education.

The costs for insurance to protect public agencies against property destroyed by vandals is also soaring. It was only a couple of weeks ago that vandals completely destroyed an $18,000 classroom trailer by fire at Granada High School.

Since the school district has $10,000 deductible insurance to cover such losses, it cost Livermore Unified a much-needed $8,000 from its budget.

However, at the time of the trailer fire, a $100 reward was offered for information leading to the identification of those responsible. Word was passed to the Granada student body. The effort paid off and an arrest was made.

Because of the Easter Week vacation, Croce hopes that publicity on the Michell School break-in and the subsequent reward offer will bring response. "Hopefully people will become more conscious of their community," Croce said, "and will help us fight this serious problem."

Anyone with information regarding the Michell School vandalism or other incidents of public property destruction is urged to call the Livermore police, Livermore fire department or the school district. Names of those furnishing such information will be kept confidential.

A Grand Champion steer named Snow, former owner Patricia Gardner and buyer Carl Zwissig.

Dean of ranchers pays a whopping price for his steak

SUNOL — Carl Zwissig, a Sunol cattle rancher, paid a record-breaking $15.50 per pound on the hoof Tuesday for a Grand Champion Angus steer that weighed in at 1,090 pounds during the annual Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition held in the San Francisco Cow Palace.

The total tab ran $16,895. It was the highest price paid for a Grand Champion in the 31-year history of the Junior show.

The previous high at the Cow Palace junior show was $4.25 per pound. Top dollar for the 1976 winner was $3.10 per pound.

The steer, named Snow, was formerly owned by Patricia Gardner of Sisquoc, California. She is an 18-year-old student attending Hancock Junior College in Santa Maria, California.

Gardner is a member of the Righetti Future Farmers of America.

"I thought I'd get about $3 per pound," she said.

She wanted to go to Cal Poly last year but could not afford it. She will enroll at that school later this year.

Zwissig is the "dean" of Sunol cattle ranchers and a longtime supporter of the Junior Grand National.

He outbid Don Moore, a restaurant owner from Mountain View.

Show officials said it was the greatest auction they had had in the history of the junior show.

Mafia retraction by KGO 'too late'

A Danville attorney, William Gagan, said that last week's retraction by KGO-TV, Channel 7, for broadcasting a story allegedly linking a San Ramon family to the Mafia, was "better than nothing" but it may have come too late. Gagan, representing Ronald and Merril Catala, said their libel complaint is still a valid one.

The $4 million complaint cites KGO and its parent company, the American Broadcasting Company, for libel and charges them with invasion of privacy of the Catalas and Catala's brothers, James and David.

On March 30, KGO broadcast retractions on the 6 and 11 p.m. newscasts. The stories were planned before the station received copies of te complaint, according to Peter Jackobus, KGO news director.

The retraction stated that the station had incorrectly shown film of the brothers and the Catala home, and that "they were pleased to set the record straight." KGO offered "apologies" to the family.

"My initial reaction is that what they did should have been done three weeks ago, the day they learned that they were wrong," Gagan said.

"The fact that the retraction was prominent in the newscast and as specific as it was is indicative that they could have done it far sooner."

In a telephone interview, Jackobus gave his explanation for the delay.

"We were trying to double-check all the information because obviously we believed it to be correct," he said.

Gagan explained that the libel statute is unclear as to whether the three weeks allowed for a retraction dates from the day when a written notice is served or from the day after service.

"I believe it will be our position, assuming KGO indicates they made a valid retraction, that they didn't act in good faith by waiting until the last conceivable moment," said Gagan.

The three-week statute limits the kind of damages which would be ultimately collected. He pointed out that there is so little law in the area of defamation that the courts must go case by case.

"Of particular concern to us was the fact that the film was taken on Feb. 23, but the broadcast was not made until March 7," explained Gagan.

The position of KGO, during a telephone conversation was that the delay was made to confirm Catala was the Mafia figure in question, said Gagan.

The initial impression given by the station was that the information was confirmed with the FBI, he added.

Gagan, who had been in contact with both the FBI and the U.S. Marshal, said this was entirely inaccur-

Water units clash on pipeline's worth

The Valley's wastewater management agencies are locking horns in a confrontation that could result in court challenges over their respective power boundaries.

Members of the Zone 7 Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District are claiming that the recently - approved cross-valley sewage disposal pipeline project will degrade Valley groundwater to the point where it will be unusable in 10 years.

While not threatening the pipeline itself, directors' charges could stop the use of reclaimed water for local irrigation.

Zone 7 Director Robert Pearson of Pleasanton charged that regional and state agencies were "willing to spend $40 million to reduce salt in the Niles Cone, but won't spend one dime to study degradation of the Valley's groundwater."

The sewage disposal pipeline concept was approved March 30 under pressure from state and federal mandates to stop dumping sewage into Alameda Creek. The current disposal process fouls Fremont's underground fresh water supply.

Some Zone 7 members argue that reuse of about 25 per cent of the wastewater onto Valley agricultural lands will degrade the quality of water kept in storage underground.

"I personally think the pipeline is idiotic," Pearson said, stating it was "conceived for the wrong reasons — the sole benefit of people living in Fremont."

Zone 7 Director Richard Ryon of Livermore said project engineers admitted in their final report that spray irrigation of wastewater would be detrimental to the water table.

"Where they are doing it definitely degrades the groundwater — it is my feeling, and the feelings of others, that this should not be allowed to happen," Ryon stated.

Police warn on 'Moonie' solicitors

PLEASANTON — Missionaries from the Unification Church, better known as Moonies after their leader, the Rev. Sun Myung Moon, don't have a permit for their charitable solicitations in town, according to Police Lieutenant David Freeman.

No matter how charitable the cause, solicitors in Pleasanton need to register for a permit with the police department. The $25 fee is waived in the case of a non - profit organization, which presumably the Unification Church is.

"We've had reports that they are soliciting in town, but we haven't seen any of them doing it," said Lt. Freeman. "We have to see them in the act before we can tell them to register."

Failure to register draws a fine which is rescinded when the individual registers for the permit, said Freeman.

Two "Moonies" have been seen around Pleasanton asking for donations for their church and selling boxes of candy. They stopped in at the The Times Pleasanton office Tuesday afternoon, but didn't have much to say except to ask for donations. Church members reportedly are instructed never to answer questions about their religion and this pair was silent when a reporter tried to find out about their church.

Daughters missing

No longer a murder suspect

SAN BERNARDINO — Police apparently have quit the search for a Livermore man who was wanted last week for questioning in the murder of his ex-wife and the kidnapping of their children.

Two small girls believed kidnaped after their mother was stabbed to death last Thursday are still missing, and police said Wednesday that one of them urgently needs medication for cystic fibrosis.

Beverly Wise, 26, was found dead in her home by her husband, Air Force Sgt. Claude Wise, who is stationed at Norton Air Force Base near San Bernardino 60 miles east of Los Angeles. Two of her children, Brandi Summers, 5, and Tiffany Wise, 2, were missing and believed kidnaped.

The Summers girl suffers from cystic fibrosis and requires regular medication, said police detective David Franz.

"She was in the habit of taking her own medication," Franz said. "She knew when to take it and that if she didn't she would get very sick."

Franz said he hoped a doctor somewhere in the state soon would report being contacted for medication in such a case.

Police at first believed the two girls' disappearance stemmed from a child custody dispute and sought Mrs. Wise's ex-husband, Roy Summers of Livermore in Northern California, for questioning.

Municipal court sets alleged kidnap hearing

LIVERMORE — Following certification yesterday that the district attorney has turned over evidence to the public defender's office, the case of accused kidnapper James Saxby has been scheduled for a preliminary hearing 10 a.m., May 11.

Saxby, 48, is charged with keeping Justin Bezis, 2, of 1969 So. Livermore Ave., at his 5107 Norma Way home for eight hours March 7 while hundreds of searchers combed the area for the boy.

In other court action:

— The case of three accused bad check passers has been continued to April 21 to set the date for a preliminary hearing.

Accused of one count of forgery, three counts of possession of forged checks with intent to pass and one count of receiving stolen property are: Belinda Crockett McDuff, 26, of San Bruno; Reginald B. Dixon, 27, of San Francisco; and Anita Maria Eberhart, 23, of Las Vegas.

McDuff will appear in court Friday to arrange for an attorney.

— Attempted rape felony charges against Patrick Hall, 24, of 433 St. Mary's St., Pleasanton, were reduced yesterday to misdemeanor charges of molesting a minor and battery.

Hall pleaded guilty to the amended charges. Bail was reduced from $5,000 to $1,500 pending continued motions and the filing of the amended complaint.

Police reports indicate Hall allegedly stopped his car alongside a 16-year-old Granada High School student last week, offered to buy a lock of her hair for $30 and attempted to pull her inside the car.

— Tom Hans Albert, 19, of Fremont, was bound over to superior court on charges of felony drunk driving which reportedly resulted in two deaths during a Feb. 7 auto accident.

Albert told police he was rushing Wendy D. Hale, 19, to a hospital for treatment of a bleeding ulcer when his car spun on gravel near Sunol and crashed into a concrete railing. Killed were Beverly Tidwell and Richard L. Engle, both 19. Four others received critical injuries.

— Ronald Ray Stokes, 22, of Hayward, was scheduled for an April 11 pleading on charges he and Sammie Joe Noble, 20, of 83 Vallecitos Road, Livermore, allegedly stole a piece of construction equipment from a PG&E tractor.

Noble, also scheduled for an April 11 plea, is in custody of Martinez police, according to Livermore court officials.

— Scott Edmund Marshall, 18, of 2768 Corte San Blas, Pleasanton was arraigned Monday on charges of burglarizing the Big "O" Tire company at 7121 Dublin Blvd., Dublin, with two juveniles.

Police said a silent alarm led police to the site where they reportedly found three suspects coming from a partially opened rolling door. Stacked next to the door were five tires and two mag rims, valued at $820.

Marshall is scheduled to enter a plea April 11.

— Curtis Edward Blake, 38, of 650 Brookfield Dr., Livermore, was arraigned on charges he rammed his car Saturday into the car of police officer Brian Woodard who had just given him a citation. Woodard received neck injuries. Blake is scheduled to enter a plea April 11.

— Mitchell Vilio Comeaux, 25, of Oakland, pleaded not guilty to charges of possessing marijuana at Santa Rita prison March 9. He is scheduled for a May 2 preliminary hearing.

Pass the hat

The traditional passing of the helmet was in order yesterday when Hayward Fire Chief Matt Jimenez (left) turned over his position as president of the Alameda County Association of Fire Chiefs to Livermore Fire Chief Jack Baird (right). Looking on is F. Preston Spalding, Union City Fire Chief. Chief Baird joined the Livermore Fire Department in 1951 when it consisted of 25 volunteer firefighters. Appointed full-time chief in 1957 when the city's population numbered 12,500, Baird has watched the force grow to a total of 46 while the city's population hit nearly 50,000. Chief Baird won the president's seat due to 20 years of dedicated service as head of Livermore's Fire Department.

SRV board mulls year-round school

DANVILLE — The San Ramon Valley Unified School District board has directed Superintendent Allan Petersdorf to prepare further information and a recommendation toward possible implementation of a year-round school pilot program.

At a meeting Monday night, trustees asked Petersdorf and the staff to workup a recommendation that would provide for implementing a year-round school program at one or more schools — on the exploratory basis.

The newly-constituted board will review possible implementation procedures and consider the recommendation at their meeting of Monday, April 25.

In a voluminous report prepared by the district staff a year ago, one of the recommendations was for the board to consider operating a pilot year-round school with optional attendance.

"It is recommended that several schools be selected," states the report, "as possible candidates and that affected teachers and parents whose children attend those schools be surveyed or otherwise contacted to obtain their attitudes and input on the issue.

"It is also recommended that parents throughout the district be notified of the possible opening of an optional year-round school so that their children may be considered for attendance. Assuming that board approval to open a pilot year-round school is given after major concerns have been resolved, a minimum of four months should be allowed for the development of implementation and evaluation plans."

A second recommendation urged the district to put year-round schools to a vote of the community — "if the district considers the operation of year-round schools that would require mandatory attendance."

A third recommendation in the report released a year ago March supported a coordinated year-round school program involving a high school, and its intermediate and elementary feeder schools.

Study areas included the schools grouping in the southern section of the district, which comprises California High, Walt Disney, Country Club and Neil Armstrong schools.

Prior to the study session Monday, Gregory McCoy, Ronald Harris, and Donald Sledge were seated as trustees.

Holdover board member Edward Best was nominated by McCoy and unanimously elected board president.

Harris was the only one of the new trustees to gain office, being nominated by Sledge and elected vice president.

Jane Upp was elected clerk for the coming year.

Dublin historical group assured of county grant

DUBLIN — The tug - of - war between the Dublin Historical Preservation Association and the Berkeley Arts Service over $20,000 in revenue sharing funds was nothing more than a timing mix-up, according to Marie Cronin, a DHPA member.

She also belongs to all of the Valley's historical societies and is Director of the Alameda County Bicentennial.

According to Cronin, the Alameda County Board of Supervisors had already approved doling out the money to the DHPA on Dec. 7, 1976.

"Other review boards had also given their approval," she said.

During a March 22 supervisorial meeting, the board was to formally sign the contract.

"The signing tends to be more of a formality than anything else," Cronin explained.

She said there were no representatives from the DHPA present at this meeting.

When a spokesman for the Berkeley Arts Service stood up and asked for half of the allotment, supervisors said they had better postpone the signing until a DHPA member could answer, Cronin indicated.

"The supervisors seemed to have momentarily forgotten about the previous action they had taken on Dec. 7," she said.

After the supervisors were reminded of their earlier decision, they agreed to give DHPA the full amount of $20,000, Cronin maintained.

"But to my knowledge, the Berkeley Arts Service has not been eliminated from receiving revenue sharing. A lot of organizations are continually requesting such funds," Cronin said. "The supervisors divide them into what they call 'first go round, second go round' etc. I'm sure the Berkeley people will be included in one of the other rounds. The whole misunderstanding involved a case of procedure and timing."

Cronin said the $20,000 is slated to be used to construct a 684 foot long water line and a sewer line 680 feet long. Both will be connected to the nearest service point.

Old Murray School will also share in the funding.

"The school needs to be painted, structurally reinforced and refurbished in many ways."

Cronin said, "We're all very delighted about getting the full funding because now we know we will be able to offer the Heritage Center to the total Valley community. And its educational programs will be available to all schools and colleges.

'Carnival!'

The gay and gaudy atmosphere of a European carnival will come to life in the first production of the newly-formed Valley Performing Arts Company — "Carnival."

Auditions are scheduled Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week at Dublin High School's Little Theater. Aspirants may try-out April 11 and 12 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Callbacks are planned April 13.

Local puppeteer John Gilkerson (left) will design costumes and sets for the musical which opens in June for three weekends. Dennis Kohles, who achieved directing successes in "Dames at Sea" and "The King and I" in Pleasanton, will direct the musical.

"Love Makes the World Go Round" is the lilting theme of the musical which was acclaimed as Best Musical in 1968 by the New York Drama Critics. The story revolves around the fortunes of the innocent, young Lilli, who runs away to the carnival to find work. There she is trained by Paul, a puppeteer embittered by his lameness which destroyed a promising dance career.

Lilli falls in love with the firey Marco the Magnificent, a debonaire magician, while Paul falls in love with Lilli because of her affection for his puppets. The Incomparable Rosalie, loud and brassy magician's assistant, complicates the romantic triangle.

The script calls for a chorus of dancers and singers, as well as a number of specialty acts. Those who come to the audition will be asked to sing one ballad and one "up" tune. An accompaniest will be provided, but music must be supplied by singer.

Persons to fill out the technical crews are now being recruited. A general meeting for all those who wish to assist The Company in any way will be held April 20 at 8 p.m. at the Cultural Arts Building in Pleasanton.

Easter is relatively new holiday in U.S.

Easter wasn't widely celebrated in America until after the Civil War, says a researcher for Hallmark Cards. "The Puritans and other Protestant dominations had little use for any religious festivals."

Easter wasn't the only forbidden celebration. It's well-known that the Puritans outlawed Christmas in Massachusetts. The movement back to Easter was primarily led by the Presbyterians, she says, one perhaps motivated by scars from the Civil War.

"The story of the Resurrection was a logical inspiration for those who were bereaved."

Easter has been celebrated by Christians since the second century, the researcher says. Records indicate that early in its history, the Eastern and Western branches of the Church argued over when the day should be observed.

The controversy was finally resolved in 325 A.D., when the Emperor Constantine convened the Council of Nicaea. It was decided that Easter should fall on Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox.

The western churches generally accepted the new calculation, although the Celtic Church in Britain refused to join the others until 664. Gaul also refused to accept the council's date until the reign of Charlemagne in the late eighth century.

Humpty Dumpty's folly

Joan Huff spends up to $100 for just one egg — but it's a whopper! The Livermore resident has made a name for herself with exquisite creations made with everything from the chicken eggs most of us unthinkingly throw away after breakfast to thick-shelled ostrich eggs, imported from Africa. Working up to seven hours a day on a single design, Mrs. Huff spends several thousand dollars a year on her hobby. She has incorporated "every possible craft," sometimes using decoupage to give a porcelain-like touch or adding pearls for a romantic Renaissance appearance. In high demand for club demonstrations, Mrs. Huff says "I keep as busy as I want to be." The award-winning craftswoman sometimes works for more than two weeks on one egg, with the end result capable of selling for $300. Pictured above are some samples of what Mrs. Huff's deft fingers are able to create: the gilt clock so cunningly a part of the Rhea egg actually ticks, and the tea set (made of chicken, duck and goose eggs) is for real, too. For more details on the craft, call Mrs. Huff at 447-9277.

Half of town left to be developed

WIDE OPEN SPACES still dominate Pleasanton's municipal expanse. The "city of many pods" offers a promising, but small "industrial park" near I - 680 and Sunol Boulevard (lower right), swings west along Foothill Road (left) to pick up scattered clusters of housing all the way to I - 580. Some 2000 acres along that freeway is still reserved for major retail and industrial commerce. The "Pleasanton Meadows" tract anchors the city's northeast corner (upper right) while "Pleasanton Valley" joins Old Town as the hub of this uncertain wheel. (Aerial view by Copeland of Piedmont)

PLEASANTON — The city is more than half way through its development, according to figures released by the planning department recently.

Total area of the city is 13 square miles within the city limits, which is the same as saying 8,320 acres. Of that area, an estimated 4,361 acres is considered developed and 3,502 remain for development. That adds up to 7,803 acres and the discrepancy of 517 acres can best be accounted by the uncertainty over just how much land area is and will be consumed by streets.

A look at the figures shows that 1,850 acres have been developed for homes and apartments and another 1,260 acres is slated for residential development, most of it over the next 20 years. Some of it is zoned for agriculture now, but it won't be forever.

In the industrial category, 154 acres are developed and 1,674 acres remain for industry. The inventory was even higher when the general plan was first drawn in 1964, but a few hundred acres were dropped when the city council thought it was an unrealistic figure.

There are 120 acres developed commercially and another 358 acres are slated for stores.

There are 1,135 acres of parks within the city limits, including the large donation on the Pleasanton Ridge from Walter Johnson and another 130 acres will join the park system over the next 20 years or more.

There are 880 acres of existing public and institutional uses, including schools, churches, the county fairgrounds and such public offices as the city hall complex and corporation yards and public safety buildings. Another 80 acres is planned for public and institutional uses.

Another important existing use is the 162 acres devoted to the sand and gravel harvesting, (or, in the opinion of some planning commissioners, "strip mining") within the city limits.

Cut rates if wastewater used on 580

DUBLIN — The California Transportation Department (Caltrans) will switch from new to old water to finish their construction project on Interstate 580 if they accept a proposal from the Valley Community Services District (VCSD).

VCSD directors adopted a motion Tuesday night to charge Caltrans 3.7 cents per 100 cubic feet for treated wastewater to be used in lieu of fresh water.

This reduced rate will apply only to the State. It will not be extended to anyone else without VCSD board approval, according to a recommendation made by VCSD Director of Public Works, Doug Nelson.

VCSD directors said they would inform Caltrans of the cost proposal as soon as possible. They had tried earlier to get Caltrans to use treated effluent. Caltrans refused until the water shortage hit, according to a VCSD spokesman.

Originally, the cost factor was presented in terms of gallons. ($ .05 per 1,000 gallons). Director Richard Fahey objected and it was changed to cubic feet.

The water is used to control dust and for earthwork compaction.

S.J. Groves and Sons Company Contractors are doing the work for Caltrans. They are widening Interstate 580. The project is expected to be completed in six to eight months.

A pipeline would have to be laid above ground to transport reclaimed water from the VCSD sewer plant to a holding tank. The water would be trucked from that tank to the construction site.

Presently, Groves and Sons owns a 10,000 gallon tank they are using at the corner of Dublin Boulevard and Silvergate Drive in Dublin. They would also own the proposed pipeline, the VCSD spokesman said.

According to VCSD policy, the State would be paying the contractor the added cost involved in installing the pipeline and moving the tank, if the latter becomes necessary. An estimate of $5000 was given for the two projects.

With a reduction of cost available to the State, the price could be reduced to $2,100.

An application has been submitted by VCSD to the Regional Board for waste discharge requirements for I-580 construction, according to Nelson. A supplement will be submitted for the landscape irrigation useage.

Nelson said it is anticipated the Executive Office of the Regional Board will issue interim requirements within two weeks and adopt formal requirements in two months.

Lab sampling stream uranium

LIVERMORE — A private survey team contracted by the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory will collect water and stream samples north of Las Vegas during April and May as part of a federal program to assess United States uranium resources.

The work is part of a continuing survey undertaken south of Las Vegas during the past several weeks.

The new survey area is bounded by St. George, Utah, on the east; Death Valley on the west; Las Vegas on the south; and Beatty, Nev. on the north.

The Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) is funding the work under the National Uranium Resource Evaluation (NURE) program. One goal of NURE is to assist private industry in the search for uranium — used to make fuel for nuclear power reactors — by identifying areas favorable for exploration.

Uranium is often washed from rocks surrounding a deposit and can be detected outward and downstream, researchers report.

ERDA has given the Livermore Lab responsibility for the survey, which includes systematic sampling of surface waters, ground waters and stream sediments throughout Nevada, Arizona, California and four other western states. Private geologic survey firms were contracted to collect samples which will be returned to Livermore by LLL researchers overseeing the field work.

After the materials have been analyzed, the resulting data will be plotted on a map. As maps of different parts of the country are completed they will be put on open file at various locations across the United States. ERDA hopes to complete the nationwide survey by 1980.

The Lawrence Lab is operated for ERDA by the University of California.

Funniest thing to hit the Bay Area

Jules Feiffer's "Hold Me!," which opened Wednesday at the Little Fox Theatre in San Francisco, is the funniest thing to happen in the Bay Area this spring.

And goodness knows we need an injection of mirth after endless months of drought and ominous pronouncements from our various government offices.

For the uninitiated, Jules Feiffer's nationally - syndicated cartoon strips have been a part of Americana for 20 years. All of us will "see" ourselves in Feiffer's cartoons at one time or another.

Now these slices-of-life have been captured in a revue ... and it's going to be a hit!

"Hold Me!" opened in New York City earlier this year and received a solid review in no less than Newsweek.

The five zanies in the San Francisco unit are certainly equal to their Gotham counterparts.

Included are Rose Arrick, Richard Schaal, Elayne Heilveil, William Snikowski, and Anna Levine.

While the first - named three have innumerable and impressive professional credits, one cannot overlook the work of Snikowski and Miss Levine. The latter is the prototype Feiffer character"those eyes are pure Feiffer"— and Snikowski is Eddie Bracken reincarnate.

The production, in the cozy confines of the Little Fox in San Francisco's Broadway - North Beach area, is actually an artfully linked series of vignettes, ranging from the guys who strike out with girls to the sock - devouring laundromat.

Providing the link is Miss Levine and those Feiffer - eyes, clad in black leotard and dancing through life's peaks and valleys.

Schaal, a regular on TV's "Phyllis," evokes guffaws with his man-in-the-laundramat sketch and as the baseball pitcher trying to stare down his teammates and crowd.

Schaal originated the role of Rev. Dupas in the Broadway production of "Little Murders", was in the Broadway musical "Kelly," and has TV credits a mile long — from "Rhoda" and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" to "The Rockford Files" and as a writer for "Love, American Style."

Miss Arrick scores with her interpretations of the "talk too much lady," "I hate myself lady," and "Hello God" bit.

She has performed with Second City in New York and Chicago, and two years ago toured with Theodore Bikel in "The Good Doctor." She also appeared in the Elaine May - directed movie "Mikey and Nicky."

Miss Heilveil's background spans the Stratford Festival in Canada, movies and television. Her spotlight sketches dwelled on "the fixative lady," "I'll die, I make faces."

Snikowski, the Eddie Bracken - type, has performed in repertory theatre in "Ah! Wilderness," "Scenes From American Life," and "The Rainmaker."

Caymichael Patten directs this marvelously funny show at the Little Fox.

Feiffer's Village Voice cartoons, from which the production is adapted, are now in their 21st year. Feiffer is also the author of "Little Murders," "The White House Murder Case," and the screenplay for "Carnal Knowledge."

"Hold Me!" plays Tuesday through Thursday evenings at 8:30 p.m., Saturdays at 7 and 9:45 p.m. and Sundays at 3 and 7:30 p.m. (Except April 10 when there will be no matinee).

The box office phone at the Little Fox is 398-2707 for reservations.

Valley water agencies clash on pipeline

Land disposal would have to be stopped and more sewage exported, Ryon suggested, or spray irrigation could be moved to areas where it would cause no harm. He mentioned the Springtown area as a possible alternative site for reuse, saying groundwater was "already very bad" and little pumping is done there anyway.

Monitoring of the groundwater's quality by the Zone 7 staff has shown "significant concentrations of nitrates where present and past reuse was practiced" in the 100-foot and above levels, Ryon stated Tuesday.

Demineralization or evaporation processes are other alternatives to increased export, he added.

Ryon said Zone 7 should take over reclamation and reuse projects because of their direct impact on the groundwater. "If need be, we could go into a confrontation with LAVWMA," the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency which is directing the pipeline project.

A lawsuit, attempted issuance of an injunction or appeal to the Regional Water Quality Control Board would be last - ditch attempts to solve the problem, Ryon said.

"If we lose this one, the Zone should just go out of business and turn over the whole thing to LAVWMA."

Zone 7 Director Gilbert Marguth, chairman of the board's wastewater subcommittee, discounted the possibility of a lawsuit. "I just can't comprehend a lawsuit between two agencies in the Valley. That is just incomprehensible."

He argued that LAVWMA should have kept Zone 7 directors abreast of the disposal situation throughout its course. "The study that went into the decision to build the pipeline should have included Zone 7," Marguth said yesterday.

Since a member of the board, Marguth had tried to learn of progress on the project but had been "rejected" by LAVWMA. Senior members of the Zone board had attempted similar communication with LAVWMA but their participation was not "eagerly sought," he added.

Technically, the Zone 7 board has responsibility for wastewater management in the Valley, said Mun Mar, general manager of the regional agency. But after both agencies failed to agree to terms of a memo of understanding early last year, the Zone 7 board has agreed to allow LAVWMA to proceed without intervention.

The reuse element of the disposal project will be discussed at the Zone 7 board's next regular meeting April 20 at 8 p.m. at the Del Valle Treatment Plant, 601 East Vallecitos Road in Livermore.

Extension not a sewer aid

Extension of federal grant funds for sewage disposal projects would have no effect on the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency's $38 million pipeline project, the project manager said yesterday.

Bob Bradford of the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) staff said that other pressing deadlines would not give way to a "wait-and-see" attitude on possible continuation of federal funds.

The federal government will provide 75 per cent funding for approved sewage disposal projects until Sept. 30, 1977. If Senate and House conferees agree to terms of a single bill, the money would be available for one more year.

Bradford points out that both houses had agreed to a continuance during their last session but conferees failed to resolve differences before the legislative term ended.

Even if agreement is reached, Bradford said, there is no guarantee the funding level will continue at 75 per cent.

The state government's guarantee of 12.5 per cent grant funding is also due to run out. A proposed bond issue, if passed, would again supply money to the grant program.

Bradford said the agency is requesting funds be made available to improve water quality and that LAVWMA be put at the top of a priority list for funding. If granted, a "broadside reclamation project" study could begin in summer.

Meanwhile, the Committee for Conservation in Livermore has begun a fund for recall of Valley elected officials involved.

ate. Both sources had reported to him Teresa was not in the area and Teresa and Catala were not the same person.

A second source of agitation was that the Catalas and Gagan had made several efforts to notify KGO of the mixup, including a call by Merril Catala, to the station within moments of the broadcast, sending photos of Catala, and serving them with a written notice for retraction.

"In spite of all that they elected to sit on the retraction for three weeks," Gagan said. "Based on the three weeks with no correction, the Catalas had a reasonable concern for their safety."

The complaint stems from a March 7 broadcast on the KGO news programs that showed the Catala brothers at San Francisco Airport and identified James as "Big Vinnie" Teresa.

The Catala residence was shown and called a "Mafia house."

Gagan said Ronald Catala had gone to the airport to pick up his brothers, who had flown in from Hawaii to visit their terminally ill father in Oregon.

Teresa, a former underworld figure in the U.S. Government's witness protection program, reportedly had been living in Hawaii, said Gagan. Rumors had circulated that he would pass through San Francisco Feb. 24 on his way to a new hideout.

Given a news tip, the KGO-TV crews were at the airport to film the arrival, according to Jackobus.

The brothers were filmed when they disembarked from the plane and asked general questions by a television reporter, but they did not know why, said Gagan.

"They purely dismissed it until they saw the broadcast about a week later," he said.

Gagan filed the complaint exactly three weeks after the broadcast, during which time KGO had not run a retraction.

Gagan said he demanded a report from the station to discover how the error had originated, but received no response.

Livermore man not a suspect

Investigators have since decided Summers was not involved and they are baffled, Franz said.

"We've got a task force working on it but so far we've turned up nothing tangible," he said, noting that Summers' statement that he was elsewhere at the time of the crime checked out.

"Right now our mood is optimistic," Franz said. "I'm drawing on the fact that the girls weren't killed in the home and that whoever took them has some element of kindness and is caring for them."

A white man with short reddish-brown hair, "which would be consistent with military personnel," and wearing a blue vertical-stripe shirt and dark slacks was seen escorting the younger child to a gold Camaro the day Mrs. Wise died, Franz said. The man was also described by one witness as wearing a black "leather-type" jacket. The 5 - year - old girl was not seen at the time and has not been seen or heard from since.

An 8-month-old daughter of the Wises was left in the home unharmed.

Mrs. Wise, who died of a single stab wound in the chest, was buried in the Northern California community of Santa Clara on Tuesday.

City names zone chief

Paul L. Curtis, 31, of La Canada, has been named Livermore's first full time zoning administrator.

Curtis, who has held a similar post for Pasadena since August, 1974, will assist new planning director Howard Nies to supervise the field enforcement of zoning ordinances.

Nies starts his position next Monday and Curtis is expected to start in early May.

He is married and has a son.

Salary has been set at $1,685 a month.

The new position was created in December, when city council voted to reorganize the planning department and specifically define roles of planning staff employes.

Deaf athlete wants a voice

on Sports

Ronald Stern likes the Walt Frazier of old. Not the new one.

"Frazier isn't the same player he was before," contends Stern, who knows the game of basketball like Jack Nicklaus knows a 30 foot putt.

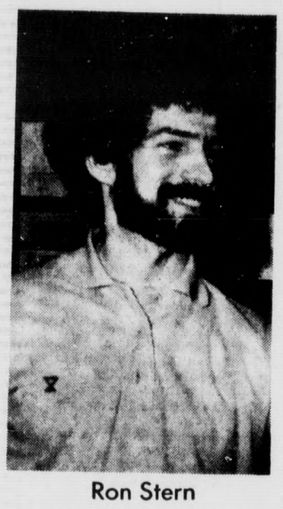
"In the past, I admired his unselfishness and tenacious defensive play,"

Stern plays Frazier's old version on the court, diving at misjudged passes, covering players like a coat of paint and bringing the ball up court like a 10 year NBA veteran. He's cool on the floor, while calling the shots, running the show and on target when the percentage shot is in range.

"I'm a playmaker and a floor leader," he notes. "I like to play a pressing man - to - man defense. To me, there's no bigger thrill than floorleading a team and then see that the end result is a basket."

Stern has had hsi share of thrills, making long jumpers, twirling the ball on his fingertips and showing the flashy movement of a Pete Maravich weave the round object between his legs down court.

His inspiration for the game is catching. Others follow suit, like his style and adopt the same enthusiasm.



Ron Stern

When the fast break is on, Stern doesn't holler and control the action with his vocal cords. Ronald says it all with 10 fingers. It's the only way when you can't hear a pin drop. Stern, deaf since birth, hasn't heard a word in 25 years. And he won't for another 25.

But it hardly slows down the energetic Walnut Creek resident, who lives a normal married life, working full time as a counselor at the California School of the deaf in Berkeley while scoring points when a basket is in sight.

But because of his basketball exploits, Ster is locked into what he calls a "desperate" situation. The hot - shooting playmaker has been selected to compete in the Deaf Olympics as a member of the U.S. team scheduled to compete in Bucharest, Rumania from July 16-26. But the big dollar might keep him home.

Ronald, plenty of nickels and dimes away from the amount he needs, has raised only $660 of a $2,500 required for expenses. The U.S. Deaf Olympic team receives no support from the government. AAU or other major sponsors and Stern must come up with the necessary funds for equipment, clothing, transportation, meals, lodging and a post games tour before May 1.

"I'm very concerned and becoming desperate as the chances are good that I'll fail to make the Olympic trip," Stern wrote on a piece of paper, his way of communicating to non - sign language speakers.

"Being new to this area and lack of communication and contact with people really has hampered my progress in the fund drive.

"Making the team and more importantly representing the USA has been a life long dream," he confided. "The U.S. is simply the best place a deaf person could hope to live. Only in this country are we accorded first class citizenship. I want to show my appreciation and gratitude by representing this country well."

So do the Golden State Warriors, who are donating $2 from every $7 ticket from Saturday night's final regualr game of the season against Kansas City to Stern and his quest.

Others can help by sending a tax deductible check to World Savings Bank, 1360 Mt. Diablo Blvd., Walnut Creek, CA 94596, Attn. Marilyn Thomas. For information, persons are urged to call Bernidean Kelly, who runs a messager service for the deaf, at 944-0160.

"After making the team," said Kelly, "it would be a shame if he couldn't make it. He's a great kid and very conscientious. I just hope he can go."

Clark firing a surprise

SAN FRANCISCO — It was not your ordinary press conference.

When the San Francisco 49ers, under the new ownership of Edward J. DeBartollo Sr., called a late - Wednesday afternoon media conference atop Nob Hill, hardly any of the curious press suspected a bomb shell was on the agenda.

It was about 15 minutes after the scribes and broadcasters gathered in the plush Fairmont Hotel that someone noticed that the 49ers no longer had a head coach.

Monte Clark, who last year put the San Francisco football team back in the right direction, with an 8-6 record, will no longer be the grid strategist for the Niners. A brief announcement in the press portfolio stated that Clark and the De Bartolos were unable to reach agreement in regards to his position with the San Francisco team.

The lack of agreement centered primarily around definition of the responsibilities of the head coach in relation to those of the general manager.

As part of his new contract Edward J. De Bartolo Jr., president, said, "Clark was asked to redefine his duties as they exist in his present contract. It was Clark's position that to do so would render his message and approach as a coach ineffective and there fore he requested that his existing contract be honored."

Clark, who came to San Francisco a year ago after serving as an assistant coach under Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins, will be payed the remainder of the three years of a four - year pact by the De Bartolos, who headquarter in Youngstown, Ohio and own three race tracks, 34 shopping malls and banking interests across the country.

Edward De Bartolo Jr. said, "We had met with Monte five or six times and tried to allow him to continue as head coach. However, the gentlemen to my right, Joe Thomas, was told that he would run the team if we were successful in getting a National Football League franchise."

"I, more than anyone in this room, wanted Monte Clark to coach the 49ers. If Joe were not involved we would have sat down and renegotiated with Monte.

"But someone who buys a club should have a say in how a team is run. It is unfortunate that Clark's contract made him general manager as well as coach. We tried to make it work. I ate my guts out trying to make it work."

The 30 - year - old De Bartolo Jr. said, "It may be a personality thing. We did not buy this football team for a head coach. We wanted to re-define Clark's duties."

The new president of the 49ers emphasized. "We will honor Clark's contract to the fullest, I have a great deal of respect for him."

Clark reportedly was earning between $57-60,000 per season. The De Bartolos said they had offered to increase Clark's salary to $70,000.

The 49er president said, "We feel we need Joe Thomas with our team. We are not in this to placate personalities. This investment of $17 million is not a play toy."

The young diminutive Italian said, "We have had a rapport with this man (Thomas). We are convinced he can bring San Francisco a winner."

It had been known for several weeks that the eventual confrontation between Thomas and Clark would have to come to a head.

When Monte was contacted at his Los Altos home Wednesday and asked what he thought about the sudden turn of events, he said, "Bleep."

The former University of Southern California, 49er and Cleveland Brown lineman, said, "I am very dissappointed that this had to happen. We had met five or six times with the new owners and I made every effort to try to iron out an agreement. But I believe that a football coach shouldn't compromise all of his principals when he has to stand up in front of his team."

"Under the new structure the head coach wouldn't have control of things as I did last year. I believe we had accomplished an awful lot in my first season as coach and felt we should have continued to do so. It was great to be back in front of the hometown fans."

The former offensive lineman, who was responsible in putting together Miami's No-Name Offense, said, "I haven't had time to consider what I will do in the future."

Thomas, the controversial general manager, who has helped mold powerful NFL teams at Minnesota, Miami, and Baltimore, said, "My main concern is going forward. I don't believe in rehashing the past. As far as a head coach for the 49ers goes, I believe you should go to a winning organization if possible. You hire an assisant coach and you put him on trial.

"I think Clark is a fine coach, and a fine person. We asked Monte to stay."

It had been rumored that John Ralston, the former Stanford and Denver Bronco coach, was the logical successor to Clark.

However, the De Bartolos and Thomas both emphatically denied such an observation.

Thomas said, "I just set foot in the 49er offices today, but I will go to work on Thursday. Right now we don't know who the head coach might be."

As stated earlier, it was not your ordinary press conference.

Ann gets 4th tour victory

Ann Dana wasn't going to turn pro, but the powers that be at her home course in Lancaster, Pa. left her no choice.

Her job as a quality control engineer with the National Bearings Company wiped out weekday play and the rules at Overlook Golf Club prohibited women on the course before 2 p.m. on Saturdays.

So, to get her fill of golf, Dana had no choice but to go out and win four of the 13 women's mini-tour events she's entered over the past three seasons, including this week's three-lapper at San Ramon National.

Dana, who shared the lead with Arkansas' Rosey Bartlett going into yesterday's final round, was her usual unspectacular, but extremely effective self during the third round and shot a 75 to clip playing partner Donna Davis by three strokes.

"Donna and I are friends," Dana explained, "So we kinda kept each other charged up — it's like a

The cost of heating a house is still going up.

Hot air rises, too. And that's why the attic is often where most home heat is lost. What's worse, you may have attic insulation that is inadequate, and not even be aware of it.

Just insulating an attic to R-19, the recommended standard, can save up to 25% of the heat you use. And you'll enjoy greater comfort.

The cost of insulating an attic is probably less than you think. For instance, if you get a qualified contractor such as a member of the Insulation Contractors Association to do it, in a typical California house it should cost about $300 to $400. Even less if you do it yourself.

So send for our free insulation booklet. It tells you, in easy-to-understand words and pictures, all you need to know about insulation. It tells you how to check whether your attic insulation is adequate, and if not, what to do about it and how to do it.

PG&E wants to help you save energy and keep your bills from going out of sight. So get the facts. What you don't know can cost you. And that's not hot air. PG and E

Giants, Dodgers open

LOS ANGELES — John Montefusco envisions a second straight no-hitter and a couple of rookie managers look for their first major league victories Thursday afternoon when the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers open their 1977 baseball seasons.

Joe Altobelli takes over the San Francisco managerial reins replacing the veteran Bill Rigney, who came back to his original club for a one-year stint.

At Los Angeles, enthusiastic Tom Lasorda became the first new manager in a quarter - century for the Dodgers when Walter Alston retired following 24 years at the helm.

Lasorda worked his way up as a player, minor league manager and big league coach in the Dodger organization before being tapped for the managerial job — one he freely admits he coveted.

Well-known and respected in baseball, Lasorda also has friends in the entertainment field and Frank Sinatra agreed to sing the National Anthem at the opening game.

The pre-game festivities start at 12:25 PST with the game slated at 1:15 with clear skies and warm weather predicted for the anticipated crowd of 45,000.

The Dodgers, runners-up to the World Champion Cincinnati Reds in the National League West a year ago, have added center fielder Rick Monday, giving them their strongest protector of that vast area since Willie Davis was traded four years ago.

The Giants have acquired the National League's leading batter in third baseman Bill Madlock who, like Monday, came from the Chicago Cubs. The Dodgers gave up Bill Buckner and the Giants traded Bobby Murcer in the winter deals.

Giants pitcher John "The Count" Montefusco hurled a nohitter against the Braves in Atlanta on his final outing of 1976 — losing a perfect game by walkng a batter in the fourth inning.

So, he says, "I'd really like to pitch another no-hitter because I may never get the change again to throw two in a row."

Montefusco, 16-14 last season, goes against Dodgers ace Don Sutton, who posted a 21-10 record, his first over the 20- game winning mark. A year ago in the opener at San Francisco, the Giants bested the Dodgers with the same two pitchers starting.

Altobelli announced his starting lineup with four players who were not with the team last year — veteran first baseman Willie McCovey, Bob Andrews, recently acquired from Houston at second base, Madlock at third and rookie Terry Whitfield, an acquisition from the New York Yankees, in right field.

Darrell Evans will be in left field, Gary Thomasson in center, Chris Speier at shortstop and Marc Hill catching.

The Dodgers went into spring training with a set lineup and it stands with Steve Yeager catching, Steve Garvey at first, Davey Lopes at second, Bill Russell at short, Ron Cey at third; Monday, Dusty Baker and Reggie Smith in the outfield.

The Giants finished fourth in their division last year, 28 games behind the Reds. The Dodgers finished 10 games back of Cincinnati in second place.

horse race and I guess Rosey just didn't have a kick at the finish."

Bartlett, who still took home $250, fell into a tie for third after her usually-consistent iron game disintegrated on the back nine.

Though she putted exceptionally well and hit 14 greens on the way to her three-over par round, Dana admitted that she didn't stay cool all the way around.

"I butchered the first hole," she said, "I was lucky to get par, but that settled me down and I got all the nerves out. I was nervous on the first tee and the eighteenth green — but not in between."

The victory lined Dana's pockets with $468.75, sent her scrambling to the phones and has her keyed up for another shot at the Ladie's Professional Golfers Association qualifying school in July. She missed a chance at the big tour last time out by two strokes.

Dana credits much of her improvement since then to Florida touring pro Harry Tuscano, a man Tom Weiskopf calls the "greatest athlete in the world."

Tuscano shares Dana's eye problems — she's blind in her right eye — and helped her get her head set behind the ball better.

"I've had to live with this for 20 years, so it doesn't really bother me," said the 26-year old Dana of her physical handicap. Some of her tour mates were upset by newspaper references to the eye-patch Dana wears on the course, but Ann read the accounts in question and wasn't perturbed.

"You guys wouldn't have known about it if I hadn't told you," she shrugged (the writers had not followed her on Tuesday's round).

Although wise investments of her past earnings leave her free from the debt worries that hound many mini-tour competitors, Dana isn't sure how much of the Group Fore circuit she'll play in preparation for that next try at the LPGA.

"I'll play as much as I can stand," she laughed, "Until I get lonesome for my honey bear."

So while she'll definitely move on to the next stop in Hollister and come back to the valley for the Group Fore event at Castlewood, Dana insists that golf isn't the all consuming thing many players perceive it to be.

"I could just as easily drive my van down to Santa Cruz and become a hippie," she grinned.

for Stern. He's studied it, coached it and poured every ounce of enthusiasm a person could give.

"Basketball is the msot team oriented sport of all the sports," Stern scribbed on a reporters notebook Monday night at the Valley Pioneer.

Unlike football where players have more specific functions for each play, basketball functions come more spontaneously. Plays often aren't pre - planned.

"Basketball is a lot mroe mental than people think. All and all, it's a test of physical skill. It requires sacrifice and persoanl goals and players need to compliment other players well. It takes a lot of practice and unselfishness to do well on the court.

"All that is very challenging and I just love it." It's easy to understand why.

Dons meet SR

Wicks hot for Amador

SAN LORENZO — Amador Valley High School's baseball team will be seeking revenge when it plays East Bay Athletic League rival San Ramon in the consolation finals of the Veri Thornock Baseball Tournament here at 11:30 a.m. today.

The Dons, who were beaten by San Ramon, 2-0, in a EBAL contest last week, rode the strong pitching of Rob Wicks to a 3-2 win over Pacific of San Leandro yesterday to advance to the finals. San Ramon dumped San Leandro, 6-1.

Wicks hurled 11 strikeouts, which included striking out the side in the top of the seventh to ice the game for Amador Valley. Rob also allowed four hits and gave up five walks.

The game was actually decided in the opening frame when the Dons scored all their runs.

Pacific led after the first half of the inning on a walk and a long single by Dave Meidelan.

However, the Dons came right back in their half of the inning, belting three hits.

Leadoff hitter Bill Bevilaqua was hit by a pitch and right fielder Mike Connolly belted a single to left field which Pacific's Randy Moral let bounce over him. Bevilacqua came in to score on the play an Connolly went to third. Wicks then clubbed a single to score Connolly. Wicks was out on a fielders' choice on Kurt Hall's grounder but singles by Bob Koopman and Glen Hill and a throwing error brought Hall in with the eventual winning run.

Pacific came back in the second inning to score its second run.

After Moral struck out to open the inning third baseman Jeff Perry walked and Ron Calutch singled. An error on Bevilacqua allowed Perry to score the second run.

After that Wicks was in complete commend, allowing just two more hits, both singles, and allowing only one runner to reach second. That came in the fifth stanza.

After shortstop John Alves fanned to open the inning Ken Johnson walked but Kerr struck out. However second baseman Jeff Hotel belted a single to keep the threat alive. Wicks stopped the rally by getting Meidelan to fly to left field.

Kerr pitched a fine game, too and deserved a better fate. The Pacific hurler allowed five hits, just one earned run and walked one batter. He fanned three.

Amador Valley mentor Don Bush admitted his team was improving but felt there was still some improvement needed.

"My big worry is our hitting," he said frankly. "We're still not connecting well enough.

"However, we've improved in other aspect of the game and Rob did an excellent job on the mound. He's throwing harder than he has recently but he still has some slight control problems. Of course, for him, walking just one or two batters is having control problems."

In championship round games played yesterday host Arroyo edged Ygnacio Valley 3-2 with a last-inning rally and Marina played Hayward in a later game. Arroyo will play the winner of the Marina-Hayward game for the championship at 2:30 today while Ygnacio will play the loser for the third place crown at 11:30 a.m.

Grizzlies gain 2-2 tie

Pat Fahey's single to right center field in the bottom of the seventh inning scored pinch runner Mark Smith from third base and enabled California High School to salvage a 2-2 tie with non-league opponent Bishop O'Dowd yesterday afternoon in Danville.

The game, played at Monte Vista High School's field, was limited to the regulation amount of innings when the umpires decided it would be too dark to attempt extra frames.

Third baseman Doug Smith started Cal's tying rally with a single to right and went to third when the Dragons' Perry Rodriguez misplayed the bounce.

The Grizzlies had jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Larry Walters walked, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch by O'Dowd pitcher Jesse Lund and scored on an error by second baseman Eric Montesand.

O'Dowd tied it with an unearned run in the top of the fifth.

With two out, Kevin Radick walked , moved to second on Tom McGinly's single and reached third on a passed ball by Cal catcher Roger Hurlow. He scored when Rodriguez struck out and Hurlow, again, let the ball get by.

The Dragons went ahead in the top of the final inning.

McGinly reached on an error by Tracy Nodlinski at third to start the inning and went to third when Cal left hander Chuck Cary unleashed a wild pitch. He came home when substitute catcher Dave Dickson lined a single past shortstop.

Doug Smith had Cal's only hit before the seventh to lead the Cal offense while Bret Cary had a sacrifice. Chuck Cary went the distance on the mound For the Grizzlies, allowing three hits and nine walks while striking out 11 batters.

"The pay wasn't the only reason I had for joining the Naval Reserve, but I've got to admit that monthly check comes in mighty handy. Especially in this day and age."

Good pay. It's a good reason to join the Naval Reserve. But it's only one way of making your experience count.

When you join the Naval Reserve, you'll also get the satisfaction that comes from doing an important job. And doing it well. If you left active duty with a critical rating, we'll try to get you back in the Reserve and working in that same rating. You'll do the job you were trained to do, with an opportunity to do it even better.

Life insurance is another extra. Just $3.41 a month buys $20,000 worth of insurance. You can't beat that price anywhere!

But there's more. You'll once again be eligible for Exchange privileges. As well as knowing that time spent in the Reserve builds toward a retirement pension.

So what's the catch? You have to work one weekend a month, plus two weeks during the year on active duty.

But if you think you can spare the time, you owe it to yourself to find out more. Just call or visit the Naval Reserve unit nearest you. And find out what your monthly check will be.

Vida will return to A's

OAKLAND — Pitcher Vida Blue has sent word through his agent that he'll return to the Oakland A's before they open the baseball season, owner Charles O. Finley said Wednesday.

Blue walked out of the A's spring training camp at Mesa, Ariz., Tuesday after saying, "The way I feel right now, I won't ever pitch for this team again. I'm fed up to here with baseball."

Finley, in a telephone call from his home in Chicago, said he told Blue's agent, Chris Daniels of Oakland, that the lefthanded pitcher would be suspended 30 days without pay and fined $5,000 if he didn't return before Saturday's American League opener here against Minnesota.

Daniels had told Finley on Tuesday night that Blue planned to file a lawsuit against the A's owner.

"I told him, 'Fine. Go ahead,'" Finley said.

An hour later, according to Finley, Daniels called back with word that Blue would be at the Oakland Coliseum for a workout scheduled Friday afternoon.

Blue, 18-13 last season, had been scheduled to pitch the opener. Finley said the assignment will now go to Mike Torrez.

Finley plans to be here Friday, but added that a painful back has kept him in bed since Monday when his son, Paul, had to put a bearhug on him, possibly saving the A's owner's life.

Finley said he began choking on a piece of lobster which lodged in his throat at a Chicago restaurant Monday night and that his son grabbed him, squeezed him hard and dislodged the piece of lobster.

Dr. Joyce Brothers

DEAR DR. BROTHERS:

It's beyond me how a good-looking, smart teenaged boy could have a serious drinking problem but, according to his teacher, this is the case with my nephew. He has about everything any youngster could want and maybe that's the problem. Why do teens drink? — A.C.

DEAR A.C.: Adolescence is an especially difficult time. Some teenagers, like some adults, drink to change their moods, to combat depression or loneliness, or fears of not belonging or of inadequacy. They drink to escape the realities of life which is basically why many adults drink.

Alcohol or other drugs are especially damaging to the teenager. It is during adolescence that he should be learning to cope with problems so he can work them through. If he uses alcohol as a crutch or to dodge his problems, he'll never learn how to solve them.

According to Dr. Mary Pendery, professor of psychiatry and director of an alcoholic treatment program, teenagers are particularly vulnerable and easily wounded by rejection. They are inclined to substitute alcohol for personal contact because they find it easier to get drunk together than to openly ask for or offer friendship and acceptance. Dr. Pendery feels teens develop alcoholism more rapidly than adults because they combine liquor with other drugs. It sounds as if your nephew needs help. Find out if there's an A.A. group for teens in his area and give him your support and understanding.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My husband has had affairs ever since we were married and I now believe he planned it that way. He thinks this is what happens in all marriages. I had news for him: I was not putting up with it any longer, and told him so. Since I said I planned to get a divorce he hasn't stopped telling me how much he loves me and how upset he is. This makes me look like the guilty party, the one who's breaking up our home. I'm confused, but still angry and hurt. B.K.

DEAR B.K.: I'm sure your husband does love you, but he obviously has an immature concept of love. I suspect that he totally separates love and sex, tenderness and sensuality. This is not uncommon, especially among the sons and grandsons of immigrant groups. In certain cultures, it is accepted behavior for the man to have numerous extramarital affairs and for the wife to remain "pure," stay home and look after the children.

The man who was raised in a strong patriarchal system considers sex in the home incestuous unless it is exclusively for the purpose of having children. This type is often unable to enjoy sexual relations with women he thinks of as respectable.

A man who separates sex from feelings of love and tenderness is cut off not only from women, but from himself as well.

This doesn't mean that your husband can't change, but I doubt that he would be able to do this without professional guidance and help, for his present behavior probably began early in his life. Try to have a serious conversation with him about all this and see if he's willing to change.

Q. "WHY DON'T FIR TREES LOSE THEIR LEAVES IN FALL?"

A. THE TOUGH, NEEDLE-SHAPED LEAVES OF THE FIR AND OTHER CONIFERS ENABLE THEM TO WITHSTAND THE LOW TEMPERATURES AND HARSH WINDS OF WINTER, AND REMAIN GREEN ALL YEAR.

As we know, many trees shed their leaves in the fall. Their branches are bare by the time winter comes. These broad-leaf trees drop their leaves to prevent the loss of moisture and keep the tree from drying out during its winter rest.

But such evergreen trees as pines and firs do not drop their leaves when winter comes as elms and maples do.

Their needle-shaped leaves are tough and leathery. They can withstand the low temperatures and drying winds of winter. They stay green all year.

Evergreens do lose their leaves. But they shed them a few at a time throughout the year, not all at once. New leaves grow to take the place of those that drop off.

Some kinds of evergreens have broad leaves instead of needle-shaped leaves. They are called broad-leaf evergreens, to tell them from the needle-shaped ones.

Broad-leaf evergreens usually live in places where winters are not very cold.

Dr. Lamb

Treating hiatal hernia

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 47 years old and have been having indigestion and problems swallowing. I have lost weight. I used to be 115 and I went down to 98.

X rays showed a hiatal hernia. I was put on medication and the condition has improved. I am eating better, but I seem unable to go beyond 105 pounds, sometimes to 108.

I would like to know if surgery is necessary. Is there a diet I should follow? Would I ever be rid of this condition?

Any advice you can give me on the treatment of hiatal hernia would be greatly appreciated.

DEAR READER — This is a fairly common condition. It is literally a hernia of part of the stomach through enlargement of a normal hole in the diaphragm. We all have a hole where the esophagus passes through the diaphragm to join the stomach. In about half of people older than 40 a part of the stomach intermittently slides through the enlarged hole. Women are more likely to have this condition because of pregnancy. Anything that distends the abdomen may increase the pressure in the abdomen enough to literally push part of the stomach through the normal opening. Obesity is also a contributing factor. Whether it is fat or fetus the results are the same.

The biggest problem with the hernia is that it affects the normal closure mechanism at the top of the stomach. This allows the contents of the stomach to leak backward into the lower esophagus to cause burning and this may stimulate esophageal spasm. This is probably why you were having difficulty in swallowing.

Sometimes surgery is useful but the correction of the hernia may not correct the faulty closure method. In this case the symptoms will persist after the surgery because the leak is still there. Most cases can be managed without resorting to surgery.

The most important aspect of the diet is that you should eat frequent small meals, not large ones, and you should wait at least two hours before lying down after eating. The purpose here is to keep the stomach empty so that there is not much to leak into the lower esophagus when you do lie down. The last meal of the day should be mostly carbohydrate and should contain little or no fat because fats slow down the emptying of the stomach.

For Thursday, April 7, 1977

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Adjust your pace to accommodate your associates today. Trying to push others could foul things up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you're planning something social today, too much of a crowd could spoil the whole thing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you're patient today, well-conceived plans will work out. Don't try to push through last minute changes. They'll ruin everything.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be realistic about the value of what you do for others today. Expect more than you should and you'll certainly be disappointed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you want to be generous with your assets today, that's all well and good. Don't give away a friend's resources or he'll be very angry.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something you want to do today for the family is practical, but not necessarily attractive. Be prepared for opposition.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're a good idea man today and you delegate authority well. But if you want the job done, be ready to pitch in, too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Financial conditions are ripe for you and you should come out OK. Your gains would be even greater if you were less extravagant.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Most people will be in accord with you, but not everyone. Don't let the dissenters dissuade you from your course.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll be successful today as a team player. It's when you try to do everything on your own that the problems start.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Some of your pals may be on an economy kick today. This is fine, but no reason for you to pick up the whole tab.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't try to take credit today for something you didn't do on your own. An honest appraisal will show others contributed, too.

"Greed is a terrible thing," murmured East after South had found a way to get himself set at his four-heart contract.

Now see if you can figure out the method adopted by South to wind up with only nine tricks. We'll give you a hint. East made a frightful play at trick one.

Specifically, after the 10 of clubs was played from dummy East played the deuce.

This play gave up a club trick because it was obvious to East that his partner had led a singleton and that South would have no way to get rid of the six of clubs later on in the play.

At this point greed got the better of South. He didn't stop to realize that West would never have led away from king-queen after the strong two-suit bidding by South and that a trap was being set.

At trick two South led dummy's jack of diamonds and finessed whereupon the hand collapsed.

West took his king and gave his partner a diamond ruff. Back came a club to be ruffed by West. A third diamond was led and East overruffed with the setting trick.

Ask the Jacobys

An Indiana reader held: ♠ 9 7 3 ♥ K x x x ♦ Q x x ♣ x x x.

She responded two notrump to her partner's two-spade opening and passed when her partner bid three spades. She asks if she was right to do this.

The answer is that her negative two notrump response was correct, but she definitely should continue to four spades over her partner's three. A king and a queen represent considerable value.

Free federal rent

Congressional clerks run lucrative shops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two House clerks are drawing annual salaries of nearly $15,000 each while running their own $1 - million - a - year businesses rent free on the Capitol grounds.

House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes said he was shocked by the disclosure, which surfaced Wednesday, and vowed to try to change the apparently legal arrangement.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neil, a Democrat, said he would look into the matter, but did not criticize the subsidized operations.

Rhodes said through a spokesman, "This is just one of the archaisms around this place that need to be re-examined and changed."

He said he would call a meeting of the GOP House leadership after the Easter recess "to decide what our alternatives are."

"It's clear that some other arrangement is necessary because I don't approve of Congress subsidizing these people," he said.

Until now the public has been denied a look at the books of the two print shops, which print millions of newsletters, questionnaires, notices, political flyers and other material at bargain rates for members of Congress.

The General Accounting Office released audits of the two printing operations for the first time Tuesday, showing that the clerks, Thomas J. Lankford and David R. Ramage, each had total sales exceeding $1 million last year.

As the Republican printing clerk, Lankford draws a House salary of $14,920 and provides free printing for the GOP House leadership. He also was paid a $77,400 salary as president of his one-man corporation, Thomas J. Lankford, Inc., which does cut-rate printing for House Republican members.

His firm, which has no other stockholders, retained net aftertax earnings of $43,595.

Ramage, the House Democratic printing clerk, drew the identical public salary and took out another $41,470 in salary from his own corporation and let the firm retain after-tax profits of $60,940.

Both printing firms receive about 6,500 square feet of free office space in the underground garage of the Rayburn House Office Building, along with free janitorial services, local telephone service, heat, light, air conditioning, delivery service, and electricity.

Ramage and Lankford own their own printing equipment and pay their employes union wages.

GAO, the auditing arm of Congress, did not estimate the value to the businesses of the rent-free space and other public benefits. One competing printing firm put it at about $46,000 a year each.

The House leadership has allowed the two businesses to grow up over the years with little supervision. Technically, Lankford works for Republican Leader John J. Rhodes, but a spokesman for the Arizona congressman said that in fact Lankford "runs an independent fiefdom." Lankford himself said "there are no regulations that I know of" in connection with his use the public facilities.

Ramage denied repeated requests for interviews Tuesday and Wednesday.

Both businesses have grown rapidly in the past decade as House members have increased their use of mass-mailed newsletters and questionnaires. Congressional mail volume tripled in the last 10 years, to 401 million pieces in the year ending last June 30.
